Semi-Formals, Soc-Hops . .

"No matter how you look at it, there'll never be another year like 1961." In this, the Seventy-fifth Diamond Jubilee year of Hammond High School, many activities were planned, varied and enjoyable events, from Homecoming to the prom. Dances, parties, soc-hops and semi-formals were presented for the enjoyment of the students. From Hammond High's earliest beginnings, social programs have been a very important part of school life.

"I could have danced all night" always describes those special parties and dances presented by the Association, classes, and by clubs. In each event, the time was short, but full of enough memories to last a life-time. The year 1961 was no exception to the rule of varied, interesting and fun activities for all.

From the bonfire on Thursday night, to the soc-hop after Friday's game, the 1960 Homecoming celebration was one of the most successful in the history of Hammond High. A crashing victory over rival East Chicago Washington thrilled students and raised the Purple state rating to a new high.

Flames from the bonfire silhouette students as the 1960 Homecoming Queen and her Court are announced.

1960 Homecoming

After the game, a soc-hop sponsored by Student Activities was held at the Civic Center. Students paused for a quick breath between dances.

The Wildcats and the Rough Riders, the two toughest teams in the Northwest Indiana Conference, faced each other in the line.

After being crowned by Doug Tralson, Association president, Nancy Reitz, Homecoming Queen, smiled happily through her tears.

Upperclassmen take a trip

Students approach Monticello, the beautiful home of Thomas Jefferson. The building was interestingly designed, due to Jefferson's interest in architecture.

In the Luray Caverns in Virginia, a guide points out interesting rock formations to this group of interested on-lookers.

Being an upperclassman entitles the student to take the Washington Pilgrimage, which is highlighted by visits to Congress, governmental bureaus and agencies, the White House, and other points of interest in the East. Approximately 140 students made the trip. Chaperones included Miss Georgia Andersen, Miss Zelda Black and Mr. Jay Wood.

The Capitol Building, heart of the United States, is a sight which thrilled the Washington Trippers more than any other.

"Silas Marner" is Fall Play

The Cass brothers, Godfrey and Dunstan argue furiously about money matters.

"Thanks, Miss Cunningham, for a job well done!" Members of the cast salute Miss Oza Cunningham, director of the play, with a bouquet.

Students and faculty celebrate

Above—The ten-foot sparkling Christmas tree with its gay decorations added to the school's Christmas spirit. The tree was decorated by the art department to blend in with the motif of the other decorations. Right—Phyllis Gachos and Bernie Krueger admire the stained glass windows. The lovely decorations emphasized the true spirit of Christmas.

the gala Yuletide season

Customs from other lands are the theme of the Christmas auditorium. Gaegeene Piarkawski played St. Lucia and Camilla Calantania and Twila Reed performed a dance. On the day of St. Lucia, the eldest girl in the family carries treats to the rest of the members who remain in bed.

The entire vocal music department of Hammond High combines voices for the finale of the Christmas auditorium session. The group also sang for the Christmas Vespers on the Sunday preceding the auditorium. Participating groups are A Capella Choir, Girls' Choir, Boys' Choir, choruses, and the Glee Club. Many activities filled students and faculty with the Christmas spirit. The winter semi-formal, the Christmas auditorium session, hall decorations, home room parties, and the two-week vacation all promoted the season's gaiety.

Seniors present

"A small surprise for Mrs. Ritter, Jenny," Mrs. Pompinelli (Miriam Fogelman) tells the Ritter maid Susie Peterson.

Teddy (Allen Gurevitz) enters and tells Mr. Spindler (Mark Sick) at right, that a very important article needed for the play to be presented at the "Haatchie-Koochy" is missing.

Mr. Ritter (Bill Sortaris) discovers that the newspaper is calling when Jenny (Susie Peterson) answers the phone.

The Torchbearers

"The Torchbearers" a hilarious farce, was chosen as this year's play. Much work and effort goes into producing a finished production—by Miss Oza Cunningham, director; committees and the cast. The plot involves a group of wealthy amateur actors and actresses who attempt to put on plays under the direction of their friend, Mrs. Pampinelli. The results of their efforts are the subject of the play.

Left—"Why doesn't the curtain come up so I can take my bow?" demands Mrs. Pampinelli (Miriam Fagelman) Sharan Thamsan, Diane Kirsh, Anne Radems, Phaebe Rhades, Mark Sick, John Manberg, Tom Maser and Dave Zarth are worried, and afraid to tell her the curtain-rape broke.

STAGE HANDS

These boys pause before returning to set up the stage for an auditorium. M. Wade, R. Faust, D. Smith, K. Hinemann, S. Green.

Stage hands make a finished production a reality; they are experienced in all forms of stage-craft. L-r—S. Green, R. Faust, B. Smith, K. Hinemann, B. Ealker, M. Wade.

Students enjoy work and play

The Sophomore class, sponsored by Mr. A. T. Bolt and Mrs. Margaret Mertens, presented the first party of the spring. Hawaiian Luau was the theme of the dance, which was held in the cafeteria. The sophomores danced, and were also entertained by a miniature charmer straight from the beautiful islands of paradise.

These students composed the Oil Panel, which is sponsored by Mr. Norman Beyer. Members speak on the topic of oil—its uses, refining methods, history, and future. Seated, l-r—Maureen O'Hern, Barbara Blackmun, Cannie Bulkley. Rebr—Bill Berg, Robert Ericson.

One sure sign of spring was the appearance of girl's baseball. In their physical education classes, the girls learned the fundamentals of America's favorite game; in balmy spring weather, they put their knowledge into practice.

Dunes distributed at Sig Swing

Held while the 1960 Dunes were being distributed, the Signature Swing gave students an opportunity to have everyone sign yearbooks. Dunes staff members distributed the books to the lucky subscribers; in the bookstore, a few students were able to purchase one of the limited number of books still available for sale. After getting their books, everyone scurried around having his friends sign his Dunes.

Remember 'way back when . . . ?

Below, left—The halls were jammed as these students sign their friend's Dunes; every available nook and cranny was used.
Below, right—Anyplace will do to sign a Dunes, especially when the halls are crowded. If you sit on a locker, however, you're not in danger of being bumped.

Students chose leaders

The campaign was on! Posters, signs, tags, and banners blossomed at Hammond High during the month of March; the students elected their Association officers for the 1961-62 year. All candidates who ran for top student government positions were well-qualified, and it was difficult to decide how to cast one's ballot. Aside from covering the marks and holes in the plaster the posters served an important function; they inform the student body as to the candidates.

Although not everyone can hold an office in the Association, the entire school can help make Hammond High School's student government an effective working body by giving it support, suggestions, and encouragement.

After the primaries, the number of candidates was whittled to six finalists. These smiling students relaxed after giving their campaign speeches in auditorium sessions. Front row l-r—Barbara Smith, Gayle Bahling, Pat Harding, rear—Tom Doyle, Fred Faushee, and Jim Vergin. Winners were: Jim Vergin, President; Fred Faushee, Vice-president; and Gayle Bahling, Recorder.

Running for an office means lots of work. These students, well fortified with soft drinks and potato chips, searched for clever ideas to give sparkle to the campaign. In spite of the amount of time and labor consumed, everyone who participated in the election agreed they'd enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Association Week was success

Elected by the students of Hammond High, the Association officers planned and suggested ideas for activities in the 1960-61 year. Mary Ellen Alt, Recorder; Red Wilhelm, Vice-President; Doug Trolson, President.

Association Week, from April 4 to 7, was a smashing success. Tuesday was Old-Fashioned Day, when students sported costumes from seventy-five years back, to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee Year. Tuesday, purple and white were the favored colors. Class colors were worn on Thursday. Friday, carnations blossomed on Sunday-best fashions; it was Dress-Up Day. The Association banquet was held at a popular restaurant, smorgasbord; those who attended came back for seconds, and thirds, and fourths . . . Friday climaxed the week; a Bermuda soc-hop was held at the Civic Center.

While waiting to participate in the costume contest, these students primped and adjusted their "slightly different" styles. Costumes entered ranged from a hundred-dollar flapper costume to an old-fashioned bathing suit, replete with long socks and cotton bathing cap. Old time movies were also enjoyed by an enthusiastic audience at both auditorium sessions.

Darlene (alias Daug) Barton beamed coyly for the camera after being selected as a charming entry in the Association's old-fashioned costume contests.

Juniors Present

After 'grabbing' a quick bite to eat, Jean hurries to apply a coat of nail polish. She has to rush, because she and Nick have to leave to attend a 6:30 pre-prom cake party.

"Bali Ha'i," the 1960 Prom, sponsored by the Class of 1961, was eagerly anticipated by the 250 couples who attended. Girls busily selected the perfect formal, the boys rented a tux, made restaurant reservations and ordered flowers for their dates.

The busiest day, however, is the afternoon before the Prom. What a rush the girls go through as they scurry around preparing for a party!

Senior Jean Hoover typifies all these girls as she prepares for her date with Nick Gasparovic. So let's join Jean as she goes through that hectic process known as "getting ready."

"Be sure you fix it so it stays up, Mom," says Jean to her Mother who twists Jean's hair into a French roll.

Nick carefully helps Jean fasten his gift of flowers to her wrist.

"Bali Ha'i"

Junior and senior class officers and their dates line up to lead the Grand March, which is the highlight of the Junior Prom night.

Sophomores Leslie Maio and Paula Van Horn serve refreshments to Jean Hoover and Nick Gasparovic as the couple takes a break from dancing.

The 1960 Prom was the climax of months of hard work by junior class committees and class sponsors, Miss Mae Kessing and Mr. Jay Wood. No one who attended "Bali Ha'i" will ever forget dancing to the music of Pat De Mure and his fabulous band, or having dinner at Chicago restaurants, and picnicking the next day at the dunes, even though it was raining. Juniors and Seniors agree, "We've never attended any party that was more fun." No matter how you look at it, the Prom was a big success.

Making Sport History

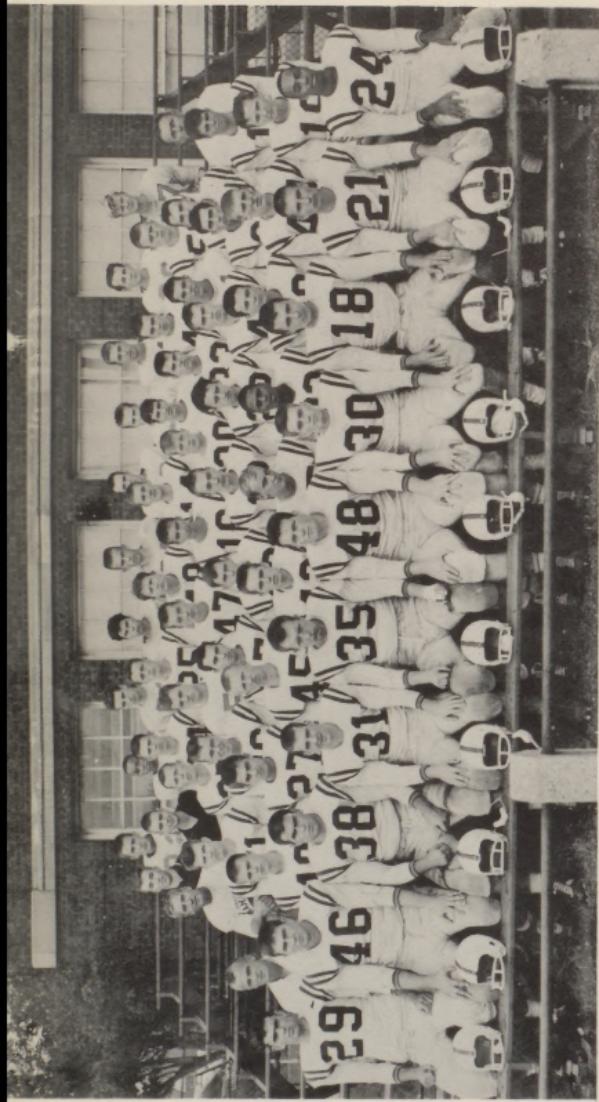

1961 was a top year in Hammond High School's sports history; varsity teams took top honors. Our football eleven won state; the basketball team reached the Sectional semi-final. Swimming, golf, wrestling, tennis and track enjoyed good seasons.

Athletics is a word at Hammond High which includes both the teams and the rooting sections. This word has been built on a firm foundation of good sportsmanship and powerful competition. Names echoing through the years like Thornton, Nelson, Cornwell, Papais, the Kucers, Krueger, and Huffine are but a few who gave the Purple the prestige that it enjoys today. Hammond High School is proud of its traditions founded years ago and continued into the present-traditions which have helped to make the 1960-61 year one of the finest athletic seasons in the school's rich history.

Wildcats equal expectations

As 2,000 Hammond High boosters shout, "Go, fight, win!" to urge the Cats onward to victory over Michigan City jammed bleachers and freezing weather didn't stop Wildcat fans from getting out and cheering their team.

Even before the first game with La Porte, area sportswriters lauded the husky Purple crew as having championship potential. As if to live up to predictions the Cats roared through a perfect (10-0) season. An almost disastrous meeting with Hammond Marian groomed the team for the N.I.H.S.C. game with Michigan City, which the Cats took, giving Hammond High its first championship since 1937.

Mike "Chico" Desotnick drew amusing chalk cartoons which boosted school spirit; here, Mike shows Sheila Sauer his cartoon for the Hammond-Hall football game.

Girls' enjoy sports program

Members of a beginning swimming class learn the racing backstroke. In their classes, the girls learn basic strokes and water safety precautions. Other strokes, such as the elementary backstroke, crawl, side-stroke, and breast stroke are taught.

Basketball is a feature sport in girls physical education classes. A jump ball provides excitement in this game. The girls also participate in volleyball, baseball, tennis, and other sports. They also gained experience by refereeing various games.

As soon as the weather is warm enough and balmy, baseball is popular with the girls. "It's a strike!" groan the batter's teammates as she swings and misses. Better luck next time.

Self-contained underwater breathing apparatus diving is an interesting and different hobby to members of the Aqua Divers. Formed little more than a year ago, the club now has ten divers with most of their own equipment.

Hammond High's pools are used to teach members the basic steps for safe diving and correct usage of equipment. A project of the divers was ice-diving at the Dolton stone quarry early in January.

Clubs Combine Talents

New clubs and ideas made the 1960-61 year full of fun and enjoyment for those who participated in a club or activity. Students who joined a club and combined their efforts with those of the other members gained valuable knowledge in working together.

Dating back to the early 1900's, girls had their own glee clubs and bands as did the boys. There were exciting names in clubs, such as the Sphinx, Der Deutsche Verein, Bohemian . . . and whatever became of the Canary Club and the Undertakers. The H-Men wore their sweaters each Wednesday. Some of these special interest groups have changed their names and their purposes . . . some have died out, only to be replaced by others. Over the years, clubs and diversified activities have become a most important segment of the whole school life.

Junior Red Cross presented an auditorium session in the fall. Various members spoke on club activities, such as the preparation of the gift chest to be sent abroad. A movie was also shown. Each school year, the membership drive is held to make students aware of the important part the Red Cross plays in the community. Everyone is urged to participate in and support this valuable service organization.

Expanded Arts Club, sponsored by Miss Schubkegel, fosters art appreciation among Hammond High students. Some of the often unappreciated projects of the club include posters, designs, and hall decorations. The beautiful hall trimmings and Christmas tree decorations were also the work of Expanded Arts. The scenery for the fall and senior plays is also the product of this club—a very important part of the club life at Hammond High.

Student activities plans diversified projects

Although the Student Activities organization has no regular club meetings, it is perhaps the busiest group at Hammond High. Headed by Dan Lawther, secretary of Student Activities, and his assistant, Susie Peterson, this group has a finger in almost every social pie at school. Soc-Hops, Homecoming, planning and putting up the social bulletin board, having charge of the winter semi-formal, assisting in the planning of Association Week—all are activities of Student Activities.

Susie Peterson, left, and Dwaynna DeGroot carefully put up the February bulletin board, listing social events for that month. Clever and varied ideas made the board interesting and attractive as well as useful.

Cathie Hutton clips a story from the newspaper. She'll post this clipping in Room 5; perhaps it will interest some students.

Speech and debate are popular hobbies with some Hammond High students. Extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, poetry reading, dramatic interpretation, and debate are some of the fields in which students participate. By entering and placing in speech meets, a student may earn membership in the National Forensic League. During the past year, the Speech Arts Club presented an auditorium session dealing with the different types of speeches which are entered in area contests.

Advising and Assisting

Our primary reason for being in school is to learn, to gain knowledge in how to be an intelligent, well-rounded person. Hammond High School, ever since its founding seventy-five years ago, has enjoyed an academic reputation of the highest caliber. Alumni of our school hold responsible, respected positions all over the country.

The most important part of the scholastic picture is the teachers, the administrative personnel, who make it possible for the students to learn. The pupils of Hammond High are justly proud of the record they have gained in scholastic achievements. Yet all these distinctions would be impossible without the guidance of the faculty. Hammond High School's faculty, in 1908, consisted of only eight members; now more than eighty trained people, each specialists in particular fields, teach at our school. In the center of all this activity is the group which makes the education machine rotate. This group is the counselors, the guidance group. These are the overtime workers who patiently steer the students into profitable, productive fields of endeavor.

Here's a salute to the 1901 Hammond High faculty . . . Supt. Hershaman, Principal Hill, and the teachers: Miss Bassett, algebra; Miss Morgan, Latin; Miss Wakeman, English; Miss Merryweather, stenography and Miss Masepohl, German.

CUSTODIANS

Hammond High's hard-working custodians perform important duties which are often unappreciated by Hammond High. Keeping our halls clean and free from debris, cleaning and straightening classrooms, even cleaning the swimming pools and preparing them for use—all these duties, and many more fall to our custodians. Rain or shine, summer and winter, these valuable members of school personalities find time to keep our school a pleasant place in which to work and study. seated, l-r—Rose Herms; George Earl, Head Custodian; Willy Butler, standing—Earl McGorvey, Bob Townsley, Belywin Parks.

Other officers, senators and house representatives were sworn in, after which the whole student body repeated the pledge and sang loyally.

students and parents

The merits and advantages of various colleges and universities were discussed by parents, students and college counselors at College Night, November 8. John Kenny, of Franklin College, tells these students and their parents about his school.

Mr. Chidester, Miss Reichl, Miss Work and Miss Harrahd checked attendance.

Indiana University was the most popular school visited at College Night; questions pertaining to campus life and courses were asked.

Students obtain study guides and counseling

Students make use of the library to obtain data for term papers, themes, and other writing assignments which necessitate research. All sorts of reference books including encyclopedias, dictionaries, magazines, and pamphlets are available. Mrs. Jessica Rich, the librarian, is always on hand to assist.

In Room 109 are shelves of college catalogues and pamphlets which are easily accessible and up to date for ready reference. While waiting to meet with Mr. Robert Brock, senior counselor, these students discuss the merits of a large university.

Below—Dr. Wenonah G. Brewer, director of student affairs at Indiana State Teachers College, addressed the Hammond High School students and faculty at an auditorium session. In an informative and entertaining speech, she stressed the importance of careful planning for one's future college and life work.

The Orchestra at Hammond High is composed of 35 members from the band, and a string section. Mr. Kenneth Geckler conducts the orchestra. This branch of the instrumental music department plays for many concerts, civic and service clubs, educational functions, and also for Hammond Public School Music Festival, which is held each year.

Our Orchestra practices and performs

Mr. Geckler measures the tone quality of Pat Harding's notes on the bass clarinet during a summer band lesson. Many students took extra lessons during the summer, when more practice time is available. The extra touches which add to a musician's skill are taught; in the fall and winter semesters, too many students must be given lessons, so these fine details which improve technique cannot be learned.

High-stepping majorettes set

Pert majorettes step high. These girls led the band out onto the field at the beginning of the football games, and proceeded the marchers in parades.

A most important part of any high school is its band. Too often, the splendid efforts of our band go unnoticed, or are taken for granted. Members march in parades such as the Memorial Day parade, Loyalty parade, Chicago Christmas parade and the Miss America parade.

Small groups of the band play for the rousing pep sessions, giving our teams that needed boost. They presented colors at the beginning of football games, and performed at half-time.

Many interesting activities are planned by our band, which is directed by Mr. Kenneth Gekeler. An exchange program with the Crown Point band was much appreciated by students and faculty of both schools.

The band is almost entirely self-supporting; they sold candy to earn money for uniforms and new instruments. The band is a deserving, worthwhile, and important part of life at Hammond High.

the pace for the band

Even though it was a sizzler, the band marched and played in the annual Labor Day parade. Shirt sleeves were the order of the day as members appeared for the first time in the season.

At the Michigan City-Hammond football game, band members formed a black "H" and played "Loyalty" as the fans wandered how precision marching is done.

Band performs at football games

Halftime shows take practice, and practice the band does—cold or snowy. Diligent work and repetition resulted in clever and entertaining shows, such as "Brigadoon," Cinderella, a political skit, and demonstrations of precision marching. These skits were so clever, that instead of warming up in the building, students sat on the bleachers in order not to miss the show!

The Herald staff puts out

Left—Barbara Harder, Editor-Business Manager of the Calumet Herald, is the first person in Hammond High publications to hold both of these jobs. During the school year, Barb sold ads, wrote stories, read proof, and generally supervised the work of her staff. For the first time, the Herald became a weekly paper; added were many lively columns and features which held the interest of students and faculty. Mr. A. T. Bolt is the sponsor of the newspaper.

"Thirty, please," says a Herald agent as he receives the papers for his homeroom from Carol Hector and Carol King. Before advisory Friday mornings, staff members and cubs came early to prepare the papers for distribution.

D I A M O N D J U B I L E E Y E A R

Hammond High's official newspaper

L-r—Carol Hector, Managing editor Joyce Alexander, and Gail Swantek check data on a story for the next issue. No newsworthy story can be overlooked. Someone must obtain information, write the story, and then type it for the printer. During first hour, the clack of typewriters is heard as journalists grind out copy for the Calumet Herald.

Staff members chattle over a feature in the latest issue; they're kept so busy producing the humor that they rarely have time to enjoy it. Seated l-r—Barbara Bellamy, Sue Warmus. Standing—Barbara Harder, Jim Lowery, Roger Kott.

"Will this be O.K. for the next issue?" asks Mike Desatnick, as he shows his newest Cartoon to Roger Kott and Jim Lowery. Mike's clever cartoons publicized games and boosted school enthusiasm.

The Dunes staff works together

Mr. A. T. Bolt, Dunes sponsor, and Sue Selsor, Editor-in-chief, burn the midnight oil to meet a deadline. Mr. Bolt irons out problems which arise when producing a yearbook. Without his help, time and advice, the Dunes would not exist. Sue has had three years of experience on the staff, serving as Junior editor on the '60 Dunes. She attended a yearbook Institute at Michigan State University to obtain useful ideas for this year's book.

Right—Carol Chidester, Club editor, and Alan Ruedi, Picture-editor, photographer, search the file for a particular picture. Carol identified club pictures, typed copy, and aided in the make-up of the club section. Alan was a familiar figure to Hammond High students this year, as he photographed school events.

Left—Coral Sparber and Shoron Rosenthal, senior editors, check over senior activity blanks. Through their efforts, every senior who so desired has activities listed by his name. The girls also supervised the composition of the senior section.

to create an outstanding yearbook

Staff members work hard to meet last Tuesday's deadline, as Alan Ruedi takes a candid shot. l-r—Sally Reissig, Sue Selsor, and Carol Chidester put the finishing touches to a spread. Shara Rosenthal and Carol Sparber type busily to finish the senior activities.

In honor of the seventy-fifth diamond jubilee year, the Dunes staff, headed by Sue Selsor, planned an exceptional yearbook, based on the theme, "No matter how you look at it, there'll never be another year like 1961."

Such improvements as color division pages, larger underclassmen's pictures, signature end-sheets, and even a new printer, topped with the most unusual yearbook cover in the area, make the 1961 Dunes one of the best ever distributed at Hammond High.

Scholarship is recognized

Membership in the Senior National Honor Society is achieved through a high scholastic standard of achievement. Members are elected in both the second semester of their junior year, and the first semester of their senior year. Members are: front 1—Donna Vergin, Joan Straker, Sue Selsor, Suzi Pollack, Marilyn Burgdorff, Carol Chidester, row 2—Shirley Besser, Cindy Christianson, Sharon Thomson, Marilyn Brom, Connie Bulkley, Anne Redems, Maureen O'Hern, Suzanne Kelley, Bonnie Nicksic, Kathy Robaska, row 3—Jean McCorkle, Joan Radun, Mary Blandford, Judy Bingham, Judy Robertson, row 4—Diane Briggs, Carolyn Wraebel, Karen Tuttle, Diane Lichtenstein, Maryann Zimont, Nancy Miller, Betty Lutell, Ann Soderstrom, Ruth Beckmann, Phoebe Rhodes, row 5—Steve Brunson, Jim Gremper, Allen Gurevitz, Mike Hrees, Rick Brusch, Milton Haward, Jim Hathaway, Richard Tumbula, Harold Libster, Terry White, Jim Marks, Larry Scott, row 6—Jim Benko, Willie Lorenz, Bob Ericson, Walter Camp, Bill Berg, Bill Sartoris, Art Lindeman, Mike Hays, Doug Troelsen.

Membership in the Junior National Honor Society is open to freshmen and sophomores with a B average. The honor societies are primarily service clubs. Members are: front 1—C. Snyder, B. Buhler, B. Harmon, D. Bradbury, Fisher D. Weever, G. Friedman, M. Fauber, L. Doniak, row 2—R. Herst, F. Tauber, B. Bremer, N. Clauson, V. Summers, B. Hustead, A. Gates, A. Crumpacker, S. Jonas, J. Crumb, M. In between checking lockers, collecting attendance slips, and checking admits, monitors find time to study. Alan Gurevitz and Doug Barton catch up on a chemistry assignment.

Under the direction of Mr. Fruehling and Lenny Sparber, the monitors keep the halls quiet, clean, and safe. Approximately eighty students serve as monitors in Hammond High's corridors.

Mr. J. T. Muri explains to Dan Hess that the statement he made in his theme was a judgement and not a report. In Composition 7, Dan will also learn more about the structure of a paragraph, letterwriting, and improved organization of material.

Miss Vera Thomas demonstrates to her geometry class that two equal sides and an equal angle on one triangle to another triangle make them congruent. The class will learn about indirect proof, inequalities, proportion, locus, and regular polygons.

75 per cent of their time in classes

Mr. Bernie Krueger, football coach, helps Wayne Paulson, Herald sportswriter, type up a story for the next issue of the paper. The excellent co-operation of the coaching staff in supplying information made a better sports section.

Blackboard drill is essential in learning a language properly. These students in Miss Katherine Harrold's Latin II class learn the difference between the active and the passive voice.

Chuck Reyer, congratulates Mr. C. J. Albrecht after Mr. Albrecht's fascinating auditorium session on Hawaii. Students and faculty sighed longingly and mentally planned trips to the isles of paradise.

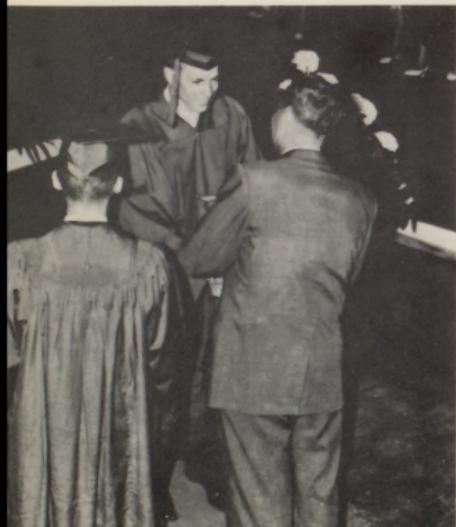

Right—When the bell rings marking the end of sixth hour, the students hurry to their final class of the day.

Graduation Highlights

To the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," the class of 1960 marches into the Civic Center and waits to be graduated.

When one is a freshman, graduation seems but a hazy dream, but the dream becomes reality when one orders his announcements, gets his senior pictures, and finally his cap and gown. But the climax—the highlight of senior year—is receiving one's diploma, a tangible symbol of four years of effort.

"Congratulations, and best wishes for the future," is probably what school board member Dr. Henry Eggers says as he hands John Tweedie the coveted diploma.

Four years at Hammond High

It's all over; everyone has his diploma, and the seniors march from the Civic Center two by two.

The ceremonies are over, and the seniors are off to graduation parties and open-houses. Ahead lies college or a job—an exciting new world — the seniors can hardly wait to start out.

Schools benefit by excellent supervision

The governing board of the Hammond Public Schools is the school board, which consists of five members, elected on a bi-partisan basis. Seated Dr. H. W. Eggers, Mrs. Margaret Allen, Superintendent of Schools, Mr. R. B. Miller, Mr. Charles N. Scott. Standing Mr. Donald Gavit, Business Manager, Mr. E. G. Wiley, Mr. Columbus Smith, Mr. Charles Schonert, School City engineer.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

The superintendent of the Hammond Public Schools is Mr. R. B. Miller. Although Mr. Miller is serving only his second year, he has planned new projects which will benefit the school city of Hammond. The school board employs the superintendent to conduct the affairs and to discharge the responsibilities of the city schools.

Office keeps school running smoothly

Hazel Lindstrom, who is spending her thirty-sixth year at Hammond High, certainly disproves the theory that anyone can be replaced. Though her duties are many, most of her time is devoted to checking attendance and answering questions. If you have a question, "Ask Hazel" is the rule.

Right—Dr. Oliver L. Ropp, Hammond High's principal, is the busiest man at school; he is spending his "lucky thirteenth" year as man at the helm of Hammond's largest school. Dr. Ropp's time is spent in office conferences, in representations in school conventions, and also in performance of many civic duties. Even though his time is scarce and valuable, Dr. Ropp always has time for a friendly smile and hearty "hello" to all.

Left—Carol Johannsen answers the telephone with a pleasant, "Good morning." Carol has been here for nine years; her usual duties involve transcription.

Above—Joan Pawenski types a stencil for the daily announcements. She works with the mimeograph, and has worked for our school for seven years.

Students Are Most Important

The most important sector of any school is its students. Hammond High School is proud of the record its students have made over the years, in leadership, service, scholarship and citizenship. This fine tradition has always been in evidence from the first student body to this year's classes.

The Jubilee Year 1961, has been one of the school's finest. Merit Scholarship winners, top athletic teams, outstanding publications, top debaters and speakers, honor societies, have all brought distinction to Hammond High School. This recognition would be impossible without the interest and intelligence of the students. Even though everyone is not a leader, pupils of our school conduct themselves in a manner which reflects credit on themselves and their high school.

Seniors are the Class of 1961

As their first activity as seniors, the class of 1961 elected class officers in the spring of 1960 so that class projects could begin as soon as school began in the fall. Seated—Dove Hugus, President; Lynn Johnson, Treasurer, standing, l-r—Dave Mueller, vice-president; Mr. Jay Wood, sponsor; Mary Jo Zandy, secretary; Miss Mae Kessing, sponsor.

Mr. Charles Sizemore, chemistry instructor, watches critically as senior Terry White carefully cleans a test tube as punishment for gum-chewing in class—"Seniors should know better," claims Mr. Sizemore.

Officers and class sponsors organized the seniors. "Stairway to the Stars," the senior dance, was greatly enjoyed by the couples who attended. A committee selected the class announcements and name cards.

The Class of 1961 can be justly proud of its record in academic achievements—seven Merit Scholarship finalists were from Hammond High. The class also had many of its members on athletic teams—champs in football, tennis, basketball, swimming and other varsity sports.

Seniors remember classes and school

Shortly before seventh hour, the outside of the building is deserted and bleak, awaiting the flow of dismissed students to rush out and dash for the busses.

David Schmidt had the audience of students and teachers laughing until the tears came with his hilarious interpretation of "Auntie Mame." Dave presented his cutting from the play at an auditorium session sponsored by the Speech Arts Club and the National Forensic League.

Seventh hour's end brings students from their classes to hurry upstairs and rush for home. Everyone is happy that another day of school has been survived.

Two of Hammond's star senior gridironers, George Pappas and Gary Eldridge, carry jubilant Coach Bernie Krueger from the field after the Wildcat's defeat of East Chicago Washington.

Many seniors participated in the varsity and intramural sports program at Hammond High. Outstanding performances by our athletes gave our school a fine athletic record for the 1960, 61 year. Purely for example, let us take our football team. The predominantly senior squad left a fine sport record for the class of 1961.

Seniors excelled in sports

Kenneth Eldridge, representing a local railroad, presents Bernie Krueger with a miniature of Hammond's victory bell.

"We want!" Surrounded by his beaming team, Mr. Krueger smiles jubilantly after the Cats captured the N.I.H.S.C. Championship.

Top students receive honors

VALEDICTORIAN

Nancy Miller, attractive valedictorian of the class of 1961, has had a busy high school career. She is a member of the National Honor Society and President of F.T.A. Nancy is a former member of Ace of Clubs, Junior National Honor Society, Booster Club, J.C.L. She is a National Merit Scholarship semi-finalist, and was a House Representative in 1958.

In addition, Nancy was chosen by the students of the senior class and the faculty to receive the coveted D.A.R. Good Citizenship award.

After graduation, she plans to attend Indiana University and teach in the secondary schools.

SALUTATORIAN

Susan Pollock, the salutatorian for the class of 1961, has attended Hammond High for 3½ years, finishing school early by attending summer school.

Her scholastic honors are many and diversified. She is a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Examination, Secretary of the National Honor Society, and a former member of the Junior National Honor Society.

Sue's school spirit has been shown by her participation in the Booster Club, and her membership in the House. She has also been active in the J.C.L., F.T.A., and the Ace of Clubs.

Left—new lights installed in the lower halls gave a bright appearance to once dim corridors. Fluorescent bulbs replaced bulb-style lighting.
Below—"How does this decoration look?" asks an art student as he and his classmates prepare colorful trimmings to deck the halls for Christmas.

1961 brought its own memories

Many soc-hops, sponsored by various clubs were held at the Civic Center after home football and basketball games. Students paused between juke box music, and caught up on the latest news.

They placed high in competition

These juniors drop suggestions in the Prom theme box. l-r—Marion Schrieber, Jim Lowery, Coroi Hector, and Rusty Skelton. Careful planning and work make the Prom a success.

and eagerly awaited senior year

Juniors and seniors gathered at the railroad station to receive final instructions before embarking on the six day Washington Pilgrimage.

Juniors took a new interest in College Night; they discussed courses and costs with representatives from various colleges, universities, business and art schools, and schools of nursing. Next year as seniors, the Class of 1962 must make decisions regarding future plans.

Sophomores are the Class of 1963

Sophomores returned for their second year of high school with an air of assurance and confidence—confidence in their way around school, in their friends made freshman year, and in how to study and make their grades. Among class activities was a Sophomore class party. As their first project, they elected officers. 1-r.—Mr. A. T. Bolt, Sponsor; Linda Patterson, Treasurer; Joe Cadle, President; Nancy Harbison, Vice-president; Ann Lawther, Secretary; seated—Mrs. Margaret Mertens, Sponsor.

Four members of the class of 1963 look at the display in the case in the main hall. 1-r—Don Vicari, Barbara Parks, George Tompson, and Jean Radloff.

CLASS OFFICERS

Many graduating seniors envy the freshmen because the latter have three more years to spend at Hammond High. Freshmen are filled with newfound loyalty for THEIR school, and are enriched with knowledge gained in that first enriching year in high school. The class elected officers and began class activities: front—Tom Turbeville, President; Pam White, Vice-president; Alden Gates, Secretary; Suzanne Jonas, Treasurer; Mrs. Vera Erickson, Sponsor. Absent—Mr. Dennis Burdock, Sponsor.

Freshmen are the Class of 1964

Printers of the Dunes

In this book these magic words have symbolically fashioned together, in myriads of fascinating designs, all sorts of clever, unique, and sometimes amusing books, which have portrayed life at Hammond High School. Such names as Conkey, Postlewaite, Thompson, Linden, Rand McNally, Taylor and DeLaney announced printers who had a most important part in putting into print, words and pictures created to present yearbook readers with an annual condensed panorama of life in Hammond's oldest high school which completes the celebration of its 75th Anniversary this June. Significant, that this year should also be set aside to remember and revere the life of a great emancipator; and his major part in the Civil War and its Centennial which is commemorated along with our Jubilee Year.

Our Congratulations to the Members of the Senior Class

BOTTLING COMPANY
In East Chicago, Indiana

what's their future

The young people you see in these pictures are all on their way to successful careers in one of America's basic industries . . . steel. They decided (as we hope you will decide) to let Inland Steel Company help them plan their future.

Some are gaining knowledge and experience in special trades to become journeyman machinists, carpenters or electricians . . . Some are concentrating on certain phases of steelmaking by working in the open hearth shops, the cold rolling mills or the galvanizing lines. Still others are working in laboratories building a sound foundation for a future in steel research.

Inland offers the high school graduate an excellent opportunity to further his education. Employees may participate in a variety of on-the-job training programs, or they can continue their formal education by registering for evening courses offered by local Purdue and Indiana University Extension Centers.

Plan now to investigate the unlimited opportunities for you in steel . . . with the mid-west's own steel company . . . : INLAND STEEL.

The All-New Vogel's

Vogel's Restaurant

Indiana's largest—seats 1,000,000 patrons, 1,000 at a time. There are five dining rooms. Family style dinners served to large gatherings "all you can eat"—ample parking facilities always.

Dinner dances, after Prom parties, class reunions, wedding breakfasts, anniversaries, parties for all occasions.

"Sign my Dunes"

"Autographs"

All the deadlines were met, the pictures and copy written, and the corrected proof was into the printer. The Dunes staffers, long in need of a rest, relaxed in the home of Cathie Cusick where they took advantage of a few free moments before they started work on the 1962 Dunes. From left to right are Sharon Rosenthal, Senior Editor; Wally Strain, Ad Manager; Sue Selsor, Editor-in-Chief; Sally Reissig, I-D Editor; Cathie Cusick, I-D Editor; Carol Sparber, Senior Editor; Carol Chidester, Club Editor. Missing from the Photograph because he was taking the picture was Alan Ruedi, Dunes photographer.
